CLASS

Dedicated to the Memory of our Friend Chris Naughton

Nearly five hundred years ago, Leonardo da Vinci described time as the destroyer of all things, that which turns order into disorder. Yet, there are happenings in the universe that run against the flow of time, at least for a while. The formation of a star from the interstellar dust is such a happening, as is life, which is the most important deviation of this kind. Life runs against the disorder of time. Sometimes, time wins out too quickly. This was certainly the case of Christopher Naughton.

I had the pleasure of knowing Chris for only about one and a half years, as his teacher of physics. Chris' excellence in physics went beyond the originality and elegance of his solutions and proofs. It had another dimension — the astonishing detail in which he developed the full meaning of his ideas. He was exceptionally talented in this area, with a future as bright as the stars themselves. We can only guess what he would have accomplished in this field, if he had been given more time. Our country needs more students of the calibre of Chris Naughton, and his loss is one deeply felt by all who came in contact with him. He was a true renaissance man, equally at home discussing mathematics as well as music; physics as well as English literature. He was involved with activities which ranged from an active member of National Honor Society, where I was able to work with Chris in a light very different from the physics laboratory to the Medfield High School band, where he was one of our 76 trombones, well, maybe not 76. He even tried his hand at baseball, and it certainly can be said, that on the field, he was as fine a player as Sir Isaac Newton!

Years ago, when I was in graduate school, I came across a book of personal letters of perhaps the greatest philosopher-physicist of this century - - Albert Einstein. Einstein, of course, was aware that sorrow is a part of life. On April 26, 1945, he wrote a letter of condolence to a doctor and his wife, who had lost their child. Here are his words:

"I am profoundly shocked by the news of the terrible blow that has so suddenly and unexpectedly befallen you both. This is the single most grievous thing that can happen to parents, and it is no consolation that untold thousands are similarly afflicted. I would not dare presume to try to comfort you, but I do want to tell you how deeply and with what sorrow I sympathize with you, as do all those who have come to know the kindness of your heart.

For the most part we humans live with the false impression of security and a feeling of being at home in a seemingly familiar and trustworthy physical and human environment. But when the expected course of everyday life is interrupted, we realize that we are like shipwrecked people trying to keep their balance on a miserable plank in the open sea, having forgotten where they came from and not knowing wither they are drifting. But once we fully accept this, life becomes easier and there is no longer any disappointment."

It would be presumptuous of me to try to improve on the aforementioned, except to add that his family, friends, and I will miss Chris, but will never forget him.

"What though the radiance which was once as bright
Be now forever taken from my sight,
Though nothing can bring back the hour of splendour in the grass, of glory in the flower, we will grieve not, rather find strength in what remains behind."

And, the memory of Chris Naughton will remain, interwoven with our hearts, minds and souls, eternally.

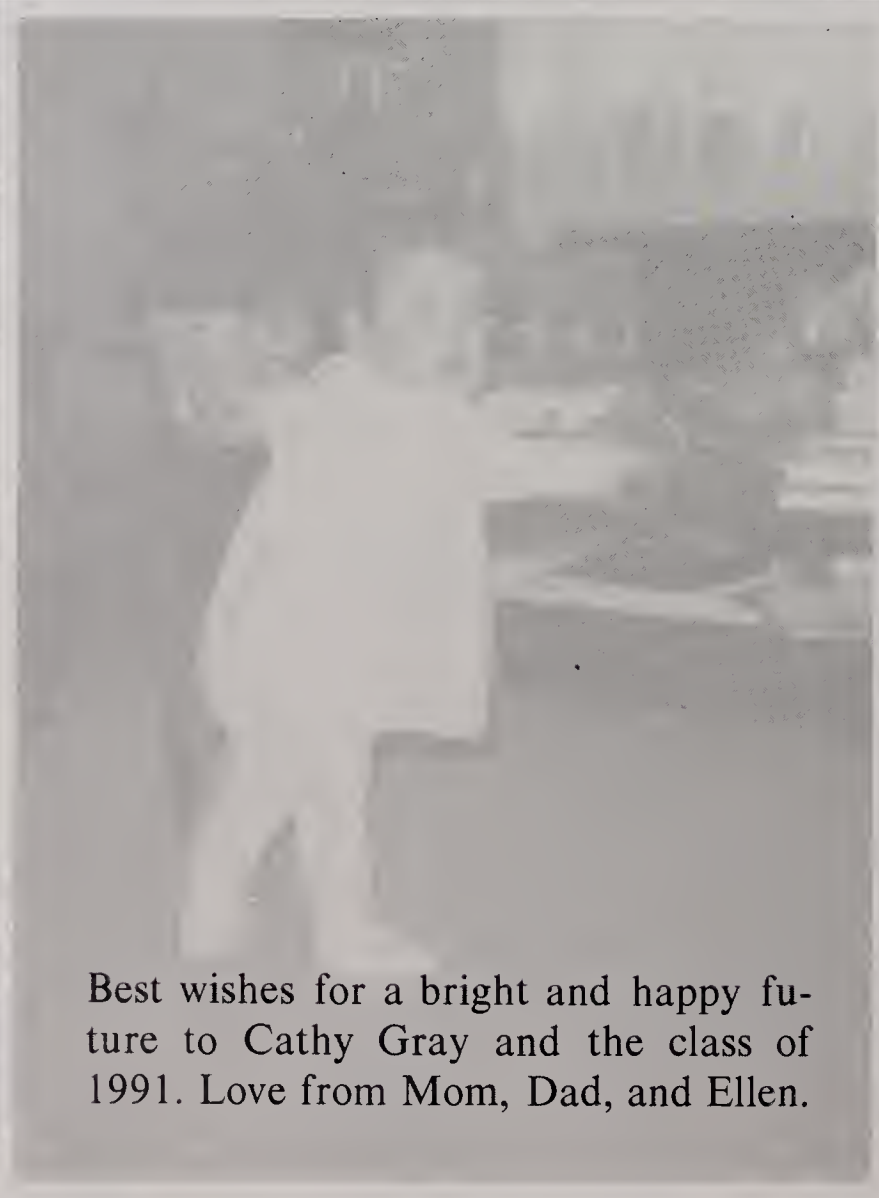
Sarah,

Seems like yesterday — that first day of Kindergarten in 1978! You should be very proud, as are we, of your many accomplishments. Congratulations! Love, Mom, Dad, Ethan, and "Sylvie."



Best wishes for a bright and happy future to Cathy Gray and the class of 1991. Love from Mom, Dad, and Ellen.

Congratulations and Best Wishes to Jenn Catalano.

We're proud of you!!
All our love,
Mom, Dad, and Paul
